Town & Country Moving & Storage is a bonded, full-service moving and storage company located in the Hawaiian Islands. Over the years we have grown from a small moving and storage company into a nationally accredited full-service and highly regarded firm. Locally owned and operated by Robert DeCastro since 1986, our Hawaii-based company is licensed by the State's Public Utilities Commission on Oahu and the Big Island of Hawaii to legally transport household goods and general commodities.

In 1996, after 10 years of success in the moving and storage business from our home base in Honolulu, Town & Country Moving & Storage decided to branch out to the Big Island of Hawaii. Town and Country Moving & Storage now provides door to door relocation services through our network of agents on each of the outer islands. Our highly trained crews are dispatched to ensure that every move is as smooth and stress-free as possible so that you can relax and trust that your "goods" are in good hands!

Today, Town & Country offers a full range of services to its customers, including residential and office moves, interstate and inter-island moves, origin and destination services, corporate account relocations, state, city, and county moves, container and general freight hauling, and long and short term storage options. We also handle military contracts and have a military-approved storage facility.

Across the Street or Around the World

Our company has several government contracts, represents several major military carriers, and provides service to commercial carriers that are well known in the industry. Town & Country has a good track record for low claims and has won praise for carefully listening and responding to its customers' needs. Our highly knowledgeable staff is dedicated to ensuring high customer satisfaction and excellent service and works daily to live up to its reputation as "THE Recommended Mover."
